

1.2 Learning to Learn

Wanted – good students!

Focus: to think about and share ideas about what makes a good student.

1. Make a list of occupations, or jobs. Make sure to include jobs that you would like to have.

police officer

actor

2. Select three of the jobs that you are interested in, and make two sentences for each, based on the model below:

*A good police officer must be fair and disciplined.
A good police officer must have knowledge and patience.*

*A good actor must be attractive and intelligent.
A good actor must have energy and a good memory.*

3. Next, think about your own occupation – a student! Make as many sentences as possible about what a good student must be, and what a good student must have. Work in a small group to share your ideas, and then make a poster.
